

I am subletting the Northfield Buddhist Center at 313 ½ Division St S, Northfield, MN 55057
Currently, the Buddhist Center is not using the space, although they may start using it again soon for members who have been vaccinated. They only use it during the evening after the time that I am in the space.

The space has a front entrance off of Division St. I am NOT using the front door, which has a very steep and long staircase.

I am using the back entrance for clients. This entrance is off of Washington St. You will find the space between the two public parking lots off of Washington pictured below in the alley (these are the parking lots between the Grande and the Library):

Walk to the back of either parking lot and look for this building entrance; come in the center brick-red colored door:

The Buddhist Center space is the second door on the left down the main entrance hallway.
